The award fee evaluation panel awarded less then 100% of the award fee for the following reasons: Quality of the custodial services can be improved through more attention to detail and thoroughness; building manager needs to provide more advance notice when outside contractors enter building for special projects, and manager needs to plan and manage personnel better. The maximum award fee for any period is $7,159, and it represents 7% of the estimated costs for the award fee period. The award fee for Period 4 (1 Jul 86-30 Sep 86) will be issued as soon as possible after the end of the fiscal year.

f. Procurement Division, Office of Logistics, plans to award a three-year contract (FY87-FY89) for newspaper subscription services for the Office of Information Research. Solicitations were mailed out to four offerors. Both the offerors' price and past experience will be evaluated and the proposal which is most advantageous to the Government will be selected for award. The successful contractor will be required to deliver 16 different newspapers to the Agency on a daily basis at three different Agency locations in the Washington, D.C. metropolitan area. The estimated price for this service is $600,000 for three years.
